By Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, April 27.—Fifteen hundred workers were added to the unemployed of the Westinghouse companies today when notices were posted at the Shady Side plant of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company saying the shops had been closed to prevent "annoyance to employees." This practically completes the stoppage of the various factories where a proportion of workmen in each struck for an eight-hour day.

Three foreign strikers were arrested at Wilkesburg and fined $10 for disorderly conduct, but in East Pittsburgh very few strikers were on the streets with the exception of the picket line. The number of guards at the electric plant was increased today and it was said that one hundred additional railroad officers were on the way from the east. Seven commissary cars were placed on a side-track at the works.

Agents from factories in other cities are busy among the strikers and numbers of them have already left the Turbide Creek valley.

It was announced today that the strike is to be managed by a general committee elected from each of the plants affected and from this committee will be chosen an executive committee. Strike leaders said the number of idle men and women had now reached 28,000.

Andrew J. McNamara, president of the International Association of Machinists, stated that James O'Connell of Washington was being sent here by William B. Wilson, secretary of labor, to investigate the strike.

Mass meetings of the employees of the Union Switch & Signal Company were being held this afternoon to further the work of the organization.

EMPLOYEES WILL FIGHT.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 27.—That the Employees Association of the Mahoning Valley intends to make a strong fight against the closed shop system and eight hour day is indicated by newspaper advertising campaigns begun here today. Announcement is made in large display advertisements that they represent concerns employing a total of 40,000 men that they believe in the open shop and that the eight hour day as demanded by workmen is impossible in the Mahoning Valley. These statements are taken to mean that the steel manufacturers will resist demands for employee.

Before leaving here today for Washington, Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, who conducted a mass meeting of union men here last night, announced that he would send 12 of the best organizers of the American Federation of Labor here at once to assist the eight hour movement. Morrison said the conditions here forecast trouble.

Two thousand machinists have already made demands for an eight hour day, closed shop and 50 cents an hour May 1. Plumbers and pipefitters met last night and voted to make May 1 demands for a closed shop and an eight hour day. The molders last night voted to make similar demands. The stationary engineers met tonight to frame their demands. The recent discharge of three of their number at plants here has aroused them. They are expected to demand reinstatement of these men, a closed shop and an eight hour day.

H. M. Kephart, of Connellsville, candidate for the Republican nomination for state treasurer, was the guest of honor at a dinner tendered him by 69 locomotive engineers in Pittsburg last night. Mr. Kephart was for many years a locomotive engineer and has scores of friends among the railroad men. The men who drive out of Pittsburg tendered him the dinner last night.

Today Mr. Kephart will attend the American Club dinner, which will be attended by Republicans from all parts of the state.

Men to Return.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The 24,000 bituminous coal miners on a strike in the Pittsburgh district will go back to work tomorrow as the result of an agreement reached here this afternoon between President John P. White of the United Mine Workers and W. K. Field, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, representing the operators.

VERDUN POSITIONS UNDER A HEAVY GERMAN FIRE*Big Bombardment Reported, But No Strong Infantry Attacks. Some Hand-to-Hand Fighting.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, April 27.—French positions before Verdun were bombarded heavily last night, but the Germans made no strong infantry attacks. A small assault north of Fort Vaux was stopped immediately by French artillery. The war office announced this afternoon.

Several German patrols were encountered north of the Aisne and were repulsed in fighting with hand grenades. A German reconnaissance party west of Lomenail was dispersed. A German aeroplane was brought down in Splucourt wood by a French pilot.

ANOTHER ZEPPELIN RAIN.

LONDON, April 27.—News published in London today indicates that not much damage was done by the four Zeppelins which visited Kent and Essex last night. Although one hundred bombs were dropped by the raiders, there were no casualties. From the time when they reached the British coast the airships were kept under the beams of searchlights and were subjected to a very heavy bombardment by anti-aircraft guns, forcing them to rise to a great height and to return across the North Sea.

In a straight run of two miles across one part of Essex a dozen bombs were dropped, mostly in fields, while six bombs fell in the neighborhood of a farmhouse without doing any damage except to crops.

There were many narrow escapes, however, in Kent. Bombs dropped around the village. The only one that did any damage fell in the garden of a church, uprooting a large tree which struck the electrical residence. Crowds everywhere watched the flight of the Zeppelins and the magnificent display made by bursting shells.

SAN ANTONIO, April 27.—The conference between Generals Scott, Funston and Obregon will take place at El Paso, not at Juarez, as was definitely announced at departmental headquarters today. Generals Scott and Funston expect to leave for El Paso tonight.

The two American army representatives cannot reach El Paso before Friday and it is not believed that General Obregon will get there before Saturday. Whether the conference will take place Saturday has not been determined.

One man was instantly killed and another seriously injured shortly before 6 o'clock last evening when engine No. 1235, hauling Pennsylvania local freight between Hollidaysburg and State Line, crashed into a landslide at Slippery Rock, one mile west of Cook's Mills. The engine and four cars loaded with merchandise rolled down an embankment a distance of about 40 feet to the Baltimore & Ohio tracks, blocking traffic on both roads.

The dead man is Harry M. Madden, 35 years old, fireman, of Springtown, Pa., crushed to death under the engine. W. Howard Emerick, 35 years old, engineer, of Ellerslie, Md., has his head deeply gashed and face lacerated and shoulder dislocated.

The train was returning to State Line from Hollidaysburg followed by the Pennsylvania passenger train due in Cumberland at 7:10 o'clock. When the engine crashed into the mass of earth and stone it was hurled down the steep embankment followed by four cars which left the rails. Engineer Emerick was thrown about 70 feet into White creek which probably saved his life, while Fireman Madden was LONDON, April 27.—Martial law has been declared throughout all Ireland. Fighting is still on in the streets of Dublin.

Premier Asquith announced in the House of Commons today that the rebels continue to hold important public buildings in Dublin and that street encounters were still in progress. The number enrolled in the various wards follows: First, 12; Second, 11; Third, 19; Fourth, 38; Fifth, 26; Sixth, 15; Seventh, 28; total, 143.

The registers reported a dismal time at the polling places yesterday. For the most part they loitered about doing nothing. In the Second Ward, particularly, were the registers busy doing nothing as up to 10 o'clock last night only 11 voters appeared.

The additional registration given Connellsville an enrollment of close to 2,000. There were 1,855 registered last fall and 245 were added yesterday. There were some removals and deaths, however. This is the largest enrollment the city has had since the personal registration began.

STRUCK BY AUTOAlex Tarr is Badly Shaken Up When Hit by Machine.

Alex Tarr, janitor of the Union National Bank on the West Side, suffered a concussion of the head and several slight scratches last evening when he was struck by the automobile of Dr. G. W. Gallagher near the crossing on the Pennsylvania railroad on Main street. Tarr did not see the automobile coming, nor did he hear the horn, and before the car could be brought to a stop he stepped directly in front of it.

The machine was going west on Main street. Tarr had just stepped out from in front of a wagon and was watching it go up the street. Dr. Gallagher was going slowly, but Tarr was so close that it could not be stopped before it struck him. The force of the collision only served to knock Tarr down, but the force of the fall and shock rendered him unconscious for a short time.

He was carried into the bank building and revived after which the doctor took him to his office where the wounds were dressed. Tarr is resting easily at his home today.

BISHOPS MEETING AT COCHRAN HOME
COMES TO A CLOSE*Church Dignitaries Leave for General Conference at Saratoga Springs.*GRATEFUL TO THEIR HOSTESS*Never Before Were They Entertained Under One Roof and Never at Such a Magnificent Home; Laymen Will Participate in Conference on May 1.

Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church who were guests of Mrs. Sarah B. Cochran at her magnificent estate, Linden Hall, for the last week and a half, adjourned their semi-annual conference yesterday and left for Saratoga Springs, N. Y., where the quadrennial session of the general conference of the church will meet on May 1. All of the bishops and about 800 ministers and laymen from all parts of the world will be in attendance. Delegates are apportioned to each conference according to size. The Pittsburgh conference, of which the Connellsville Methodist Church is a member, will be represented by six clergymen and six laymen. The McKeesport district, covering Connellsville and other nearby towns, will be represented by J. Fred Jones of McKeesport as a lay delegate. Louis Weiler of Ligouier will represent the Allegheny district, taking on other towns in this section.

The Saratoga conference is the 27th delegated quadrennial session of the general conference. It is made up of delegates from 233 annual conferences. They are elected on a basis of one ministerial delegate to every forty-five ministers in any given annual conference, with the same number of lay delegates. Laymen were first admitted to the general conference in 1872 and 1900 women were acknowledged as lay members. Lay delegates are elected by laymen representing the churches of the annual conferences.

The important business to the conference will be the delivery of the episcopal address, now accepted as the official declaration of the church on important theological, administrative and social problems. This was framed by the bishops in session at Dawson last week.

The Methodist Episcopal Church was organized at Baltimore, Maryland, December 24, 1784, with 104 preachers and 18,000 communicants. Now there are 15,000 preachers and 4,033,123 members.

Before leaving Dawson the bishops expressed their appreciation to their amiable hostess. It was the first time the semi-annual bishops' conference had ever been entertained under one roof and the churchmen were charmed with the beautiful country place and its hospitable mistress. All of them declared that they had been honored by being invited to Linden Hall.

Every want of the bishops was provided for by Mrs. Cochran during their stay and they did not leave the estate from the time they arrived until they left, except on Sunday, when they occupied pulpits throughout Western Pennsylvania.

Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of San Francisco last night delivered the final lecture in the Cochran Memorial Church at Dawson on "The Biography of a Boy." Before the lecture a song service was held, with Miss Ruth McGowan at the organ. Rev. Ralph Bell, pastor of the Methodist Church at Vandeventer, opened the meeting and Rev. G. L. C. Richardson of Connellsville, in prayer. A number of other persons from Connellsville were present.

Automobiles will no longer have reason to violate the city ordinances by leaving their automobiles standing on the streets for hours at a time, but will be able to put them in a parking space provided for that purpose by the Business & Professional Men's Association. The organization has secured the permission of the Frisbee heirs for the use of the lot on the corner of Apple street and Meadow lane and it will be put into condition for automobile parking.

Workmen have already been put to work by the association and it is expected that the lot will be ready for use by the first of the week. After the lot has been cleared a base of coke ashes will be spread over it and made solid. This will afford an excellent place for parking cars and it will be free to everybody.

Many cars can be put into the lot, which measures 80 by 120 feet. There is only one small shed on it and this will not cause inconvenience. The fence along Apple street will be left

RAILROAD MEN PREPARE FOR

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 27.—Proposals that questions involving wages and hours of work of 300,000 trainmen be submitted to arbitration will be discussed at a series of meetings beginning June 1 at New York City. It was decided today at a meeting of representatives of the railroads and of the four employees' unions here. The ultimatum of the employees demanding a written reply to the revision of the schedules handed the railroads several weeks ago expires Saturday. It is stated, however, by officials of the general managers' association, that practically all of the railroads have answered the demands already. It is said the refusal of the demands by the railroads has been universal.

Neither side has shown and disposition to arbitrate. W. G. Lee, head of the trainmen, recently issued a statement that arbitration is not being considered by the union leaders.

PROBE MAN'S DEATHMystery Surrounds Finding of Body in Marine at Hecla.

The body of Andy Medwedchyn, which was found in a ravine at Hecla on Wednesday morning by some men on their way to work, was brought to the Zimmerman morgue at Mount Pleasant last night to await the result of an investigation. Dr. James Harkness, who examined the man, believes that there was foul play. Automobile tracks nearby and footprints in the clay nearby, seem to substantiate this theory.

Nothing was found in the man's pockets but an Ingersoll watch. Medwedchyn's relatives live in Europe and he boarded at Carpentertown. He was about 35 years old.

RAIN RETARDS PAVING.Bricklaying on Wills Road Stopped

The intermittent rains of the present week have interrupted progress of the Wills road paving. The bricklayers start work whenever a day promises to be fair but before they have more than a few thousand blocks in place, a downpour puts an end to their part of the work.

The stretch between the end of the bridge and the turn up the hill is nearly completed and next week the base will be down ready for the laying of bricks up the hill toward Angle street. Good progress will be made if the rains keep off.

HOSPITAL RATES WILL BE RAISED
IN NEAR FUTURE*It Will Soon Cost Patients
$1.50 a Day; Others
Charge $2.*STATE BALKS AT PAYING LOSS*Trustees Here Anxious to Keep the Charge as Low as Possible; Big Increase in Cost Since the Hospital Was First Opened in 1901.

Announcement has been made that effective in the near future the rates charged patients at the Cottage State Hospital will be increased from $1 a day to either $1.50 or $2. The trustees are endeavoring to obtain the consent of the state authorities to hold the price to $1.50, but institutions in Pittsburgh and elsewhere, it is said, have increased their charges to $2.50. The actual cost of keeping a patient at the hospital is $2.04 cents a day. The state has been assuming the difference between the amount charged and the actual cost.

When the improvements authorized at the hospital are completed other charges will be added. These will include any work done in the pathological laboratory, as well as the administration of an anesthetic, if one is required.

Every person treated at the Cottage State Hospital is supposed to pay for that treatment if he is able. Free service is given those unable to pay, but a thorough investigation is expected to be made into all cases where request is made for free service to determine whether the patient really is unable to reimburse the institution for treatment.

The H. C. Frick Coke Company and other industrial concerns which send their men to the hospital in case of injury have agreed to pay the new charge of $1.50, which the trustees are hopeful the state will accept as the new fee. The reason for holding the price down as much as possible is on account of the fact that after two weeks compensation insurance companies pay no further hospital bills. It is to protect injured persons who are required to spend more than two weeks in the hospital that the special effort is made to hold the charge as low as possible.

In connection with the revision of charges it is interesting to note the difference in the cost of keeping patients. When the hospital was opened in 1901, and for a few years thereafter, a patient could be kept at the hospital at a cost of 87 cents a day. This has risen steadily until now the cost is $2.04.

The state has endeavored to require all its hospitals to charge a flat $2.50 a day for all patients, but the trustees of the Cottage State Hospital are putting forth a determined effort to have the $1.50 rate approved, or if it is not, to be permitted to charge not more than $2. This charge is for patients in the wards. Those who have a private room would be charged proportionately higher.

CONDITION IS IMPROVEDChief Rottler Says That Son Has Chance for Recovery of Sight.

The condition of Andrew Rottler, son of Chief of Police B. Rottler who had his eye injured while working in a factory at Monongahela City, is better and the chances for the recovery of the sight are good. Chief Rottler accompanied by Mrs. Rottler visited their son yesterday and were assured by the attending physician that if he continued to improve he would have normal sight once more.

Word reaching his home here was to the effect that he had gotten a piece of steel into his eye but the accident occurred in a different way. While holding a belt on a machine the lacer and the sharp point struck him just below the eye. Had it been a little higher it would have pierced the pupil. He will be confined to the hospital at that place for several weeks yet.

FOUR KILLED BY TRAIN.Noise of Shifting Engine Drowns Out

Four men were killed by a passenger train on the Hempfield branch of the Pennsylvania railroad on Tuesday evening. They were employed as track laborers and failed to hear the passenger train approach because of the noise made by a passing shifter. The fifth man in the party, who had a baby in his arms, was brushed over an embankment. The baby escaped but the man was painfully bruised.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

A charming wedding was that of Miss Gertrude Maurer, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Maurer of Lancaster, and G. Cameron Shuman of Cadiz, O., solemnized this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church in the presence of relatives and friends of the bride and bridegroom. It was the second wedding to occur in the handsome new edifice, and while simple in appointments, was a very attractive one. A color scheme of green and white, with sunflower, anemone, lilies and hydrangeas, forming the decoration, prevailed. Rev. J. L. Franklin, the pastor, officiated, the beautiful ring ceremony being used. Prior to the ceremony, Miss Elizabeth Mae Brown sang "What's in the Air" and "Dearest." Mrs. A. W. Hishop played the wedding march from Lehengrin as the bride party entered the church. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, W. N. Leche, wore a smart traveling suit of navy blue silk and a hat to match. Her bridesmaids, Misses Helen and George Swan of Pittsburgh, who were maidens of honor also appeared in coat suits of blue silk and blue hats. Dorothy Moore of Cadiz, O., served as best man. The ushers were George Swan and Harry Swan of Pittsburgh, nephews of the bride. Following the ceremony was a reception at the Arlington Hotel. Receiving in the parlor with the bride party were Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Leche and Mrs. M. G. Swan of Pittsburgh, the latter a sister of the bride. Covers for 40 were laid at a handsomely arranged wedding dinner served in the large dining room of the hotel. The guests included only members and intimate friends of the two families. An attractive color scheme of yellow and white was carried out. Jonquills and tulips and southern soil were effectively used. The bride for the past five years has made her home with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Leche of Pittsburgh, and has a wide circle of friends. The bridegroom is a well known business man of Cadiz, O., and has a number of friends here. Mr. and Mrs. Shuman left this afternoon for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home in Cadiz, O. The wedding gifts were numerous and handsome.

STEALS BUMPING BLOCK

Man's Efforts to Sell His Frowl and Ho Lands in Jail.

Charged with stealing a 500 pound bumping block from the Pennsylvania railroad and trying to dispose of it to a junk dealer, William Neat, 52 years old of Vale Summit, Maryland, was arrested last night by Special Officer John DeTemple and Assistant Chief Bowers.

He was committed to jail after a hearing before Alderman Fred Atank. Neat admitted having taken the big iron block from its resting place back of the Pennsylvania depot. He mounted it on a barrow in some miraculous manner without assistance and took it to the junk yard where he offered it for sale. The dealers refused to buy it, claiming that it was railroad property.

Neat said he could get around this all right by getting the iron broken up. His kind offer was refused, however, and he wheeled the block away. In wheeling over the flagstones at Fayette street the block was split smashing several of the stones. A charge of larceny and malicious mischief was preferred against him and he pleaded guilty. Officer DeTemple took him to jail this morning.

HAD THRILLING TIME

Gatty Sellars, the English Organist.

In Germany When War Broke Out. Gatty Sellars, the famous English organist who gives organ recitals in the Presbyterian Church this afternoon and tonight, was in Freiburg, Germany, when the war that has turned Europe asunder broke out two years ago. He was making talking machine records of organ selections in a factory there when the word came to mobilize. In half an hour all of the employees had left, leaving him alone at the organ. Mr. Sellars immediately planned to leave the country and by the time he secured a train that evening, train loads of German troops were on their way to the front. He went to Cologne and waited across the frontier into Belgium.

Taking a night boat from Ostende, Mr. Sellars arrived in England just as word came of Germany's declaration of war on England. He came to America to complete his contract for organ records and made the first selections of this kind for the Columbia company. Two of these selections, "The Russian Patrol," with military effects, and "A Storm in the Alps," are on his program for tonight.

Local Men Drive Cars Through From Cleveland Despite Rain.

In spite of the rain which made the roads muddy and soggy, Val J. Clark of the Connellsville Garage, and Ira J. Moon drove two Saxon Six cars from Cleveland to Connellsville. Scarcely of box cars makes it virtually impossible to get machines delivered promptly by freight, so it was decided to brave the muddy roads and travel overland.

The two cars brought in last night are for E. S. Corbourn of Mill Run, and J. V. Shattler of Dawson. Good time was made on the trip in spite of the rain and bad roads.

ION-O-LEX

Stop Inflammation of Throat and You Avoid Danger.

Tonsillitis is an inflammatory disease. The tonsils are very apt to become implicated in any inflammatory condition of the throat. Serious trouble results unless the inflammation can be stopped. Ion-o-lex stops the inflammation. That is all it does—just stops inflammation. When the inflammation is stopped the cause of the disease is gone and recovery is sure and speedy. Ion-o-lex is the truly remarkable discovery of English scientists. It is used and prescribed by the most prominent physicians in England. It is also largely used in English military hospitals in cases of Pneumonia and Bronchitis and in preventing inflammation in wounds.

It is always effective wherever there is inflammation. In Sore Throat, Croup, Coughs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, Appendicitis, acute Rheumatism and in Burns and Wounds it is invaluable. Ion-o-lex is guaranteed—If it fails in a single instance to stop inflammation and reduce temperature to normal, your druggist is authorized to refund your money. Remember Ion-o-lex is harmless and almost tasteless. It cannot interfere with any other treatment. Comes in two forms—Liquid for internal use and Ion-o-lex Unguent for external use. It is dispensed by all leading druggists.—Adv.

Don't neglect your hair, girls; you'll be sorry later on if you do. Never mind about the things you have tried;
never mind about what people say.
Just remember this: Parisian Sage will make harsh, thin or faded hair soft, glossy and luxuriant. It quickly rids the scalp of dandruff, stops falling hair and scalp itch, and imparts that refreshing, comfortable feeling or money returned.

It's a delicately perfumed liquid free from oils and as one woman remarked, "Parisian Sage puts the radiance of sunshine into my dull looking hair and makes it beautiful and lustrous." A. A. Clarke sells lots

PETEY DINK—He Didn't Raise His Boy to be a "Gaffer."

RUNNING WILD

A political cartoon titled "RUNNING WILD" depicting a chaotic scene in a park. A vintage Ford car, driven by a man in a military-style uniform and top hat, is careening down a path. A sign on the car reads "DOVE OF PEACE". The car is crashing into a picnic area. In the foreground, a man in a top hat and suit lies on his back on the grass, looking dazed. A picnic blanket nearby is labeled "POLITICAL PRIMARY PICNIC" and contains a pie, a cake, and various utensils. In the background, two other men in suits and hats are watching the scene. The cartoon is signed "STAN" in the bottom right corner.

'BUL BUL' MAKES A SPLENDID HIT AT MT. PLEASANT

Delightful Comic Opera is Staged by the Institute
Students.

SPLENDID WORK BY PRINCIPALS

Called Presbyterians Hold Annual Congregational Meeting and Elect
Four Trustees; District Attorney
Eicher to Speak to Baptist Church.

Special to The Courier

MOUNT PLEASANT, April 27.—The comic opera, "Bul Bul," given at the Grand Opera House last evening by the students from the Mount Pleasant Institute, was a credit to both Misses Mina Trickey and Marion Dunham, teachers at the Institute. The scenery was attractive and the plot to the show was especially good. Gambles orchestra played and the characters were very well suited to their parts. "Bul Bul," the soprano, was Marie Detweiler and the lead was very good; faint, the bass, a well meaning but fussy monarch, was taken by Byron Loe; Caspala, tenor, an amiable young prince, was taken by Joseph Skergan; Ila, contralto, the court chamberlain, was taken by Ora Detweiler; Lilla, the mezzo soprano, a friend of Bul Bul, Beulah Rittenour; Alana, tenor, friend of Caspala, Paul Miller, Doctor, baritone, keeper of the royal spectacles, Zeck, baritone; Justo, tenor, keeper of the royal cash box, Columbus Maehner.

Every voice in the leads was good. The students who took part are some of the best voice students who have ever attended the Institute. The audience was held from the time the curtain went up until it fell. The leads were assisted by a very able chorus, in which were David Wilson, Charles Zundel, Joseph Maniak, Braden Noll, Leona Stahl, Preston Robertson, Teresa Sauton, Mildred Houser, Madeline Shaw, Francis Noll, Ray Houser, Harry Francis, Alvey Kessler, Elizabeth Overholt, Flora Welner, William Overholt, John Francis, Adelaide Andrews, Klara Kuhn, William Hoke, Robert Shuman, Mary Handall, Sara Hardin, Eleanor Goldenhilt, Edward Miller, Faye Whipp.

So that there would be no wait between the acts, vaudeville was filled in that afforded much amusement to the audience. The Institute Sextette, in which are Marie Detweiler, Elizabeth Overholt, Beulah Rittenour, Pearl Depriest, Ora Detweiler and Emma Gish-Chorpe, sang "Somewhere a Voice is Calling" and "The Sunshine of Your Smile." Margaret Gordy, Edna Wilson, Leona Weaver, Rebecca Marsh, Carrie Quess and Ruth Holaday gave, under the direction of Miss Emma Gelathorpe, "The Family Duet a Corps," and "Denenberg Jenkins Photo Album." Miss Elizabeth Overholt, with her chorus, made quite a hit in "Helen." Teresa Sauton, with a chorus, sang "Dreaming," and looked very pretty, using flashlights in roses for a lighting effect. Beulah Rittenour, assisted by Emma Gelathorpe and the chorus, answered the third encore in "Prisco."

CONGREGATION MEETS.
The congregation of the United Presbyterian Church held their annual meeting last evening, with Eugene Warren as chairman for the evening. The attendance was the largest for some time. Four trustees were elected. Two elected for two years were T. S. Shaw and S. N. Warden and the two elected for the three year term were Wilbur Barnett and J. McD. Bryce. The ushering was left to the Young Men's Bible Class of the Sunday school.

NOTES.
District Attorney Ward Eicher will speak on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Baptist Church on "The District Attorney's Office."

Miss Josephine O'Connell has returned to her East End home, after a visit paid Miss Edith Cooper.

STUBBORN ECZEMA HEALED BY AMOLOX

We are daily receiving letters of praise from people who have been cured by Amolox. Many of them tell how, for years, they have tried different remedies and doctors in the vain effort to find relief. Some became discouraged and lost all hope of ever being cured. C. H. Frisber, 187 Sycamore St., Mansfield, O., writes: "Our baby's face was covered with eczema, scales, sores and scabs. She was a pitiable sight. We tried everything. Took her to Pittsburg doctors but were unable to find any relief until we used Amolox. It cured her within a short time."

Amolox ointment will quickly heal pimples, on the face, red nose, and minor skin troubles. Chronic cases of dry or moist scaly eczema require both the ointment and liquid to effect a cure. At all drug stores. Trial size, 50c. Recommended and guaranteed by the Connelleville Drug Co., Connelleville; Broadway Drug Co., Scottsdale.—Adv.

Westmoreland Medics to Meet.
The Westmoreland County Medical Society will hold its May meeting Tuesday afternoon in Greensburg. Dr. L. J. C. Bailey of Greensburg will read a paper on "A consideration of the drugs most generally useful in stomache and intestinal indigestion."

To Organize Boy Scouts.
The business people and residents of Rockwood interested in Sunday schools have launched a movement to organize a troop of Boy Scouts at Rockwood.

BANTY SHARP AND JOHNNY CREELEY TO FIGHT ON TUESDAY

Uniontown Boxer and Ohio Lad Will Go Ten Rounds at Slavish Hall.

FAST PRELIMINARIES PROMISED

Terrill Duncan, Colored Fighter From Uniontown to Meet Pittsburgh Favorite Korch, Popular With Fans, Here to Fight Also: Strong Preliminaries.

A fast boxing show will be staged on the West Side Tuesday evening, May 2, when Johnny Creeley and Banty Sharp clash in a ten round bout. Both fighters are bantamweights and will show some class stuff in the scientific end of the game with lots of pep to make it interesting.

Creeley comes from Toledo, and has a reputation back of him. He has met many heavy hitters in the game and recently fought with Charlie Kelly, Johnny Kibane, Sharp is from Uniontown, where he is fighting under the wing of Mont McCormick. He has made that place his headquarters since the boxing game took hold after the last show at that place, but he was formerly from Beaver Falls.

Sharp has fought in New York rings with such men as Johnny Dundee and Harry Leonard. He is a heavy of match, aggressive and will go to Creeley a hard battle in ten rounds. Both men are fighting regularly therefore being in the best of condition.

The preliminaries will not be slow either. For the semi-final a match has been arranged between Terrill Duncan, the Uniontown colored lightweight who has appeared in local rings many times before and Koll Lupo of McKees Rocks. The bout will last eight rounds and will be full of fighting. Lupo is a favorite with the Pittsburgh fight fans and Duncan has yet to be defeated. At the last show in Uniontown he knocked his opponent out in exactly four seconds after the going sounded.

Joe Korch of Bradock, another familiar figure in local arenas, will be matched with Freddie O'Brien of Pittsburgh who is claiming the championship of that district. Local fans all believe that Korch's day is coming and the style of boxing he puts up is worthy of the prize accorded him. The preliminary will last only six rounds but every minute will be full of scrapping.

One of the largest crowds of the season is expected at the show on Tuesday evening. Besides being one of the best shows yet put on it has been several weeks since the last match was staged and the fans are eager to see some fast men in action again.

THEY'RE IN AGAIN

Types Form Baseball Team; Uniontown Here.

The Type Baseball Team has organized for the season. Under the coaching of W. E. Porter, the team expects a successful season. Mr. Porter is an advocate of the squeeze play and it was by his skillful maneuvering of this play, two years ago in the game against Uniontown that he put over the winning tally of a warmly contested game.

The boys are all anxious for another game with the Herald in Uniontown and expect to secure a game with them soon, as well as other games. Games can be arranged by writing in touch with William Phinck of The News or James J. McFarland of The Courier.

Card of Thanks.

FIGHTER TRAINS BY SHINING SHOES AND SAYS IT'S GREAT.

Want to become a successful boxer? Take a tip from Chick Magillone, Akron (O.) lightweight, and try your hand at shoe shining. Chick is eighteen years of age and for the past eight years has been polishing footwear. None of the boys he has beaten to date are first raters, but Chick is a cozier.

"If you want to develop your arms and shoulders for boxing there's nothing better than a job in a shoe shining shop," says Magillone.

CANN NEW SWIMMING MARVEL.

Schoolboy Comes Close to World's Record For 100 Yards.

The performance of Teddy Cann of the New York Athletic club in winning the 100 yard national junior swimming championship stamps him one of the most remarkable young swimmers of the day.

Teddy is a schoolboy, not quite eighteen years old, and he had been trained for the 100 yard title race, yet he covered the century in 55.45 seconds, or within one and four-fifths seconds of the day.

TEDDY CANN, NEW SWIMMING MARVEL.

world's indoor record, set in the same pool. At his present rate of improvement it will not take long for the lad to be bidding for international laurels. Credit for the amazing development of this new prodigy must be granted to Matthew Mann, the former Boston instructor, who is now coaching the Mercury Foot squad. He predicted sensational speed for Cann the first time he saw him in action, and he worked hard and able to better his form. In a couple of months he has succeeded in making him one of America's foremost swimmers.

DEFINE AMATEUR IN TENNIS.

Important Features of New Racket Sport Rules.

An amateur is one who plays tennis for pleasure and the benefits to be derived from the sport. A player shall cease to be an amateur by accepting money, board or lodging, traveling expenses or equivalent from a club belonging to the United States National Lawn Tennis association unless special permission has been secured.

No player shall sanction the use of his name to advertise or promote the sale of tennis goods. No player shall accept money, board or lodging, traveling expenses or equivalent from a club belonging to the United States National Lawn Tennis association unless special permission has been secured.

Whitney Adds to Stables. Harry Payne Whitney has received from England a big shipment of blooded horses for his stables. Six point broods, eleven young thoroughbred brood mares and two foals of 1915 are in the lot.

Open Door In Baseball Now. In the future baseball owners will be able to announce what players have not been signed, something which cannot be done in recent years because of the Federal league being in the field.

ONE ARMED MEN TO ORGANIZE BASEBALL TEAM IN WATERTOWN, ME.

Watertown, Me., may be the only city in the country which will boast of a team of one armed ball players. Louis Johnson, a one armed lad and former captain of the high school nine of that place, is organizing a team. He has three boys already and by the time the summer comes is confident that he will have a completed roster. When a high school Johnson was rated as one of the best in the school and much better than many boys who had two arms.

STAR TROTTERS TO FACE WIRE

Speed Performers on Grand Circuit This Season.

BIG ENTRY IN M. AND M.

Great Harness Classic at Detroit Will Bring Together Galaxy of Horses. Peter Mac's Fast Mile—Horse's Sel-don Repeat—Other Notes.

The class of the stake trotters which will be raced during the grand circuit in the 208 stables, the class for which the majority of the rich stakes have been scheduled this season, can be imagined by scanning the list of entries to the $10,000 Mercurials and Manufacturers' stake, which takes place in Detroit next August, the most noted of all turf classics. For that event two horses, one of which had taken a record of 2:30 1/2 and the other had worked in 2:34 1/2, were entered, but yet there were enough owners in the country with enough courage to name no fewer than a score to try conclusions with the sensational pair. The list of men making nominations is one composed of some of the wisest heads connected with the harness horse sport; men who are not in the habit of spending money where there appears to be no chance of getting a return on the investment.

Peter Mac in Great Mile. When Peter Mac trotted his sensational mile in 2:32 1/2, first half in 59 seconds, at Lexington last fall, it was the general opinion that the performance would be the cause of putting an awful crimp in the list of stake entries for 1916, the Cleveland stake being obsolete to practically all of the rich men of the turf. As Walter Cox had won his four-year-old filly Mabel Trask in 2:34 1/2, it looked doubly bad for the lesser lights, for even should Peter Mac fall by the wayside for one reason or another there was still the filly from New Hampshire to be reckoned with.

The history of the M. and M., however, has been that the winter favorite seldom wins, the 1915 renewal being an example of this. Peter Scott, the $30,000 stallion from the Murphy stable, succumbing to the prowess of the Danline stable colt, Lee Axworthy. In record time for the event, the last two heats in 2:34 1/2.

When the M. and M. was first raced in 1889 and won by the gray gelding, Hendryx, the fastest heat was 2:18 1/2, considered a very creditable performance in those days of the high wheel sulky. In the 1915 renewal Hendryx would have been the favorite, the seven-eighths pole when Leo Axworthy finished past the wire, which shows what a quarter of a century of improvement in breeding, training and equipment will do.

Three California Horses. California is represented in the M. and M. this year to a greater extent than in years past, no fewer than three of the candidates being from the Pacific coast. One of these, the $20,000 stake winner Springtime (2:38 1/2), will appear in his best form this season. The other two are mares—H. J. Maclean's Miss Perfection (2:39 1/2) and Will Durfee's Virginia Barnette (2:38 1/2). The first named has been seen on the grand circuit, Charley De Ryder racing her several times in the "big ring" in 1914, when she was a three-year-old, giving her a race record of 2:39 1/2.

Star Mares to Compete.

Virginia Barnette isn't much to look at—a frail little mare weighing about 750, one of the Duddy Archdale (2:33 1/2) type, and it is believed she will trot just as fast as Pop Geers' little pet before she retires from the turf if she meets with no ill fortune. W. J. a two-year-old, she trotted a heat in 1:00 1/2, and the following year took her record of 2:39 1/2, in winning a heat from Star Winter (2:35) at Phoenix, Ariz. She worked in 2:36 at Los Angeles last fall, and at the exposition meeting in November she gave Peter Scott the hardest argument he had last season.

Murphy Enters Pair.

Tom Murphy has two entries in the M. and M.—Trumpbright (2:38 1/2), with which he won several races on the grand circuit last season and which he worked in 2:35, last half in 1:00 1/2, at Lexington last fall, and Vanko (2:39 1/2), which he purchased during the season. The latter is a Canadian gelding which cleaned up on the half mile tracks of Ohio and Michigan and could trot in 2:35 over a two lap course. In addition to Mabel Trask, Walter Cox has worthy Prince, with which he won third money in the M. and M. last season, and Director Todd, a New England half mile track star. Pop Geers has three entries, but the one which looks for the best is St. Francis (2:37 1/2), a very high class four-year-old of 1915 and owned by a daughter of Frank G. Jones, Pop's wealthy Memphis patron. The fast but erratic Bonington (2:40 1/2) and Guy Nellie (2:37 1/2) complete the trio. The Bao (2:38 1/2) and the veteran Omar (2:35 1/2). Earlwood L., a New England half mile track star; Duell and Ruston, from the Danline stables; Ames Abington, the pride of Toledo; Mr. Foyles, a Michigan half mile track star; Dick Watts, which had some grand circuit education last season, and Sadie S. (2:37 1/2), a 1915 grand circuit winner, complete the M. and M. roster.

SHIPPERS SEEK A BILL OF LADING FOR COAL AND COKE

Separate From Merchandise
Bill or Letter Much Revised.

WANT OPEN CAR SHIPMENTS

Protected Without Restriction and Prompt Notice of Loss and Conditions in Transit Loss Claims Settled Promptly at Market Value.

A strong effort is being made by the shippers and receivers of coal and coke to secure modification in the form of bill of lading and a net concession from the railroads that will eliminate one of the sources of trouble between coal and coke shippers and the railroads. The coal trade is an active one in the Middle West and has been most active in this matter. A lengthy conference was recently held in Washington with representatives of the railroads at which some progress was made. It is not enough to have a completely satisfactory adjustment of the differences between the parties involved.

The proposal that a separate bill of lading be provided for shipments of coal and coke did not meet with favor by the railroads who insist that the bills and conditions of the coal trade are covered by the uniform merchandise bill. No concession was reached upon this matter other than an agreement to submit it to the Interstate Commerce Commission for consideration and decision.

The railroads advocate the retention in the uniform bill of lading of the provision restricting and reducing the liability of the carrier where the lading is carried in open cars. The coal interests object to this holding that this provision should be amended so as to exclude property which is usually transported in open cars such as coal and coke and confine it to cases where a shipper has a choice of cars and voluntarily selects an open car. If the provision as thus amended and supported by the shipping interests is approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission then the responsibility of the carrier for the protection of coal and coke in transit will be preserved in full vigor.

The shippers also urge that it is the obligation of the railroads to give prompt notice of shipments that are lost or damaged in transit. The railroads refused to incorporate such a provision in the bill of lading. Another contention was that prompt notice should be given of the transfer of the contents of one car to another and also of the contamination of a shipment by a carrier under present practice months often elapse before the shipper finds out what became of his shipment.

One concession secured from the railroads provides that when a consignee indicates on a bill of lading that the carrier shall not make delivery without requiring the payment of freight charges the consignee shall not be liable for such charges if the carrier makes delivery contrary to the stipulation. This will afford much needed protection to shippers where coal or coke is sold f. o. b. mines and consigned to irresponsible parties. The coal representatives want this provision extended to cover shipments which are re-consigned on written order so as to give the same protection to the re-consignee as is now proposed for the original consignee.

Another contention of the shippers was that in adjustments of claims for losses in transit the market value at the time and place of delivery should govern. The purpose of this provision is to require prompt settlements by carriers upon the actual value of the coal or coke lost.

The several points of dispute will be argued before the Interstate Commerce Commission on the proposed bill of lading set forth the obligations and rights of both shipper and carrier so clearly that both will be protected and that disputes with consignors will be largely obviated.

TO ADJUST DIFFERENCES

Arising From Labor Disputes Purpose of U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States which is made up of commercial bodies in all sections of the country and maintaining a central office in Washington is about to take a very important step in relation to the labor problem. This organization contemplates the formation of a committee from its membership which will perform the functions of a board of conciliation to harmonize the differences between capital and labor on questions of wages but not of work and other matters.

This body will consider all matters as they affect the industrial and commercial welfare of the country with a view to preventing unjust demands being enforced on either capital or labor. It will assemble and give to the public at large the facts of business and labor and of the needs of people in business and labor relations who are qualified to give opinions. Having gathered the facts and a discussion it will make recommendations in accordance with the facts as they have been revealed. Operating a board in "rest of the labor of maintaining business" as a check on such lines will promote the peace and stability of labor and the business community will be able to accept of such a plan with profit or to adjust fairly with each other.

Fifty Clowns; Among the Buffoons With Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus is Arthur Borella

Half a hundred clowns from middle lands' little field have been assembled this season by the management of the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus which comes to Conneltsville on Monday May 8 for performances at 2 and 8 P. M. and a three mile long street parade at 10 o'clock in the morning.

One of the most interesting of these clowns is Arthur Borella known the world over as the 'Horse Man' clown. This is Borella's trade mark and for twenty years it has been his slogan and by-word. Whenever he appears on the hippodrome track he shouts these words. Little tots know him for he has invigorated cheer and happiness into the hearts of millions of them. Arthur Borella is the highest paid clown in the world. His salary is $600 per week and all expenses. Only once in all the history of circus was this achieved and this was by the immortal Dan Rice who once received a salary of $1,000 per week.

The entire program is exceptionally good. Tomorrow, Lanny Ward America's favorite photoplay star will be seen in 'Tennessee's Partner', a five-reel comedy production. Lanny Ward who has appeared to excellent advantage in 'The Cheat' and 'The Marriage of Kitty' on the Paramount program, will be seen in an entirely different role when he appears in the title role of 'Tennessee's Partner'. This production of a widely read story of the far West in the days when the forty-niners founded a new empire on the Pacific and is based in part on the play of the same name by Geo. M. Cohan. The story opens when Tennessee's Partner is a young man who is a partner in a mining company. He is a partner in a mining company. He is a partner in a mining company.

OPPORTUNITIES IN LAKE TRADE FOR
COKE REGION COAL
Increased Demand From
By-Product and Other
Consumers.
RECORD SEASON IN PROSPECT
Pittsburg and West Virginia Districts Expecting Exceptional Movement.
Prices Likely to be Stimulated, (Car and Labor Supply Important Factors.)
Coke operators of the Conneltsville region particularly those of the lower and No. 10 Conneltsville districts will have great opportunities in the Lake coal trade this season than at any time since Conneltsville coal became a factor in the fuel markets.
The Pittsburg, West Virginia, and other districts which are drawn upon to supply the Lake trade are expecting the season to open with a big rush and continue in such volume that all previous records of movement will be surpassed. Those familiar with the situation in the Northwest insist that the demand will be unusual throughout the shipping season. With the depletion of stocks following two seasons of light shipments and with industrial activity at an unprecedented rate and with domestic consumers in a financial position to burn coal freely the requirements for next winter are certain to be in excess of any preceding similar period.
In addition to the regular shipments of coal to the up lakes counties for domestic and industrial uses there will be much larger shipments to the by-product coking plants than have ever before been made. It is this branch of the trade which will command the attention of the Conneltsville region operators. It is well known that Conneltsville coal is the best coal for by-product treatment as it is also the best for by-product coking. Very large increases in by-product plant capacity means increased opportunity for Conneltsville operators to move their coal at high coke prices and other conditions make it more desirable to ship raw coal than to treat it into coke.
Within the past year the number of by-product ovens in the Northwest has been largely increased both by the completion of new plants and by additions to old ones. The new steel plant of the United States Steel Corporation at Duluth was placed in operation during the past winter. It will require a large quantity of steam coal as well as coal for the by-product ovens. The Inland Steel Company has doubled its by-product plant since 1911 and is now adding 14 ovens making 140 in all as well as constructing a third blast furnace. Other and smaller plants have made corresponding increases in productive capacity which indicate that coal consumption for all purposes will be on a much greater scale.
It follows naturally that shipments of coal to this section will establish a new record in tonnage. What it will reach is of course largely a matter of conjecture but in one well posted quarterly forecast it is made that it will total 32,000,000 tons which would be between one-fourth and one-third larger than the average of the past three seasons.
Coal operators in the central districts of West Virginia are watching developments keenly. For some time past the coal trade from that territory has been very unsatisfactory, particularly as to prices. In the opening of the Lake season on May 1 they foresee a return to much better conditions.
A reaction is expected in the market

If you want to spend some of your time adventuring in another land—in the land of Montezuma, Carranza and Villa; if you want to know the conditions of riot and anarchy, of murder and pillage across the Mexican border, then you want to read this red-blooded story that leads up to and concludes with the attack on Columbus, New Mexico, by Villa and the sending of the American army across the line. It is a story of intense interest, of daring adventure and charming romance.

CHAPTER I.

A Really Nice Young Man. The picture of a disordered motor and Kynaston looking up.

He had not heard a motor car since he had come to this particular section of the Mexican border, now a long six months ago.

The work in suppressing gun runners had not differed here from that along other sections of the line.

The days, which seemed to be weeks long, were spent in fruitless patrols along the hillside.

"Sir!" Kynaston looked up wearily. He had ridden forty miles that day on the strength of an order from headquarters that told him to investigate a report that American citizens were shipping arms across the border to Villa by means of an aeroplane. The fact that it was obviously ridiculous meant nothing. An order was an order, and he was beginning to be very tired of the forced function.

Across the border he could see from time to time, from the vantage ground of his camp, bodies of the Villista cavalry riding the line, prepared to welcome any runner who should tamely surrender to them.

He well knew that arms were being smuggled across, and that every foot of the border was a hot spot, but that the matter was one that could not be controlled except by martial law.

"Sir!" said the sergeant again. "Well, sergeant, what is it?"

"There's a machine broke down up the road a bit and there's one on it but a couple of fellows. I seen it come down the hill over the San Pedro an hour ago and then a little while ago a man rode back on a pony. I don't know what it is."

Rising wearily, Kynaston picked up his revolver and made his way along the rocky stream path from his camp to the little trail that led due north to "God's country," or due south to revolution and anarchy—whichever way the traveler was headed.

Four hundred yards away from his picket line, where the horses stamped restlessly, he saw the machine. An engine chugging away like the engine of a tethered torpedo boat. By the machine there knelt in the red New Mexican dust a gray-clad girl whose golden hair, escaped from its veil, caught the direct rays of the sun and radiated them like gold.

She did not hear his approach. It was not till he said quietly, "Can I be of any service to you?" that she sprang to her feet facing him.

"Lieutenant Kynaston, in charge of the local border patrol," continued the young man. "Your machine was reported to me, and I came down at once to see if I could help you."

"Yes, if you have such a thing as an automobile doctor in your camp," the girl replied wistfully. "I was about to give up in disgust and come to your camp for aid."

"What seems to be the matter?" asked Kynaston, standing and looking under the machine with an interest that was now the less by reason of his exhaustive ignorance of the machine. "It is a car, or is it a thing home forming? I can possibly assist you. If it is anything more serious I doubt my ability."

"The chauffeur says it is a stripped rear. I sent him back on a hired pony to telegraph for another to be sent to the Juana. Heaven knows how I'll get there—I am Miss Upton. I want you to know Mrs. Fane."

The girl indicated a tall woman with dark eyes sparkling from behind a pink veil, who was leaning over the side of the machine. Kynaston bowed and received a charming smile.

"Mrs. Fane," continued the girl, "is to spend a few weeks with me at my father's mine—maybe you have heard of Daniel Upton, who owns the Santa Cruz mine, a few miles to the south?"

Miss Upton waved her hand in the direction of Mexico.

"I think I have heard of it. We have had twenty complaints from the mine of the depredations on it by the revolutionists. That's why we're here—catching and controlling the border for gun runners."

Miss Upton laughed delightedly. "I wish you patrolled by motor instead of on horseback," she said, "for then you'd have a machine and not a farrier in your camp. As it is I don't suppose any of your men know about automobiles."

She looked her question. Kynaston found himself hoping that she would ask many more questions if she would only accompany each one with such a look.

"I'm sorry to say," he responded gallantly, "that there isn't one of them who would know a clutch from a spark plug. But if you will come to the camp we can at least give you some tea and a better place to rest than this hot road, and I can send a messenger who is more reliable than your man; at least one who knows the country better."

The two women, shaking the dust from their clothes, joined him. They walked slowly back to the hot little camp in the canyon at the base of the hills, where the cavalrymen were gathered in a frankly curious group, looking with unmistakable admiration at the two women as they passed by the little spot of shade afforded by the single tent fly in front of Kynaston's tent.

A deaf cook, summoned by a hot trumpet, produced some tea and crackers, and Kynaston, apologizing for the tin cups, settled his visitors as comfortably as he could.

"I wonder what father will say," mused Miss Upton.

Kynaston, gazing in frank admiration at the girl's shimmering, golden hair, her violet eyes, matchless complexion, and perfect, full-bodied figure, wondered vaguely if there were anything a man could not pardon such a woman.

It was Mrs. Fane who brought him back to earth.

"My dear Mr. Kynaston, what in the world do you find to do here?" she asked. "I have often heard of the monotony of the frontier life of the army, but I have never seen a soldier before, and I see now that all tales I have heard were outrageous exaggerations. No? Disappointing, then? Why don't you die?"

"People don't die in New Mexico; they dry up and blow away," said Kynaston, grinning. "Oh, it isn't so bad. One has his work, and after all, when a man has his work it doesn't matter whether he does it in West Virginia or Tibet—so long as he does it as well as he can—What is it now, sergeant?"

A khaki-clad cavalryman who was standing at attention saluted punctiliously.

"Sir, a courier has come in with this note for the lieutenant."

He handed over a grimy paper. Kynaston, with a hasty, "Excuse me, please," opened it. He looked up quickly, a light in his eyes that Miss Upton noted with approval.

"Have Corporal Welsh and ten men saddle up at once. No sabers; just rifles, canteens, and a day's rations cooked in the saddle bags."

"Yes, sir."

The sergeant hung on his heel, obviously with something unsaid. Kynaston grinned knowingly.

"Yes, you may go, too," he said. The soldier saluted again and departed. Miss Upton turned to Kynaston with:

"I know. You have received some word that calls you out along the line, isn't that it? And the sergeant wanted to go, why?"

"Every time we get an alarm of any kind each and every man wants to go along, because he thinks each scare may turn out to be a fight, and he wants to be in it."

"I wouldn't give much for a man who didn't," commented Mrs. Fane. "So you see I must leave you," said Kynaston. "I have told the sergeant that I want an extra tent put up so that you and Mrs. Fane can have a comfortable place to sleep until your messenger returns. Send my horse up at once, trumpet."

With a last long look at the beautiful picture that Miss Upton presented as she stood in the shadow of the tent fly, went out to inspect the formation of his detachment.

It had happened so often that it had become a habit—that receiving reports that called for the despatching of a detachment at once to investigate some utterly baseless rumor. Fifty miles east and west ran the line, which was not off at every mile by great rectangular monuments of stone or metal standing grim and gray against the hill rims, each monument marked on the north side with the arms of Mexico, and on the opposite face with the arms of the United States—mute warning that this far and no farther could rebellion and anarchy be tolerated.

And the warning that those monuments gave was backed up, not by the serried ranks of untold thousands, but by thirty young cavalrymen. Just now the little squad of line riders were loitering in the shade of their tents where they watched Corporal Welsh as he superintended the unloading—a painstaking job indeed, for to a cavalryman the slightest wrinkle in a saddle blanket is a serious matter, as it may well put him adrift with a lame horse in the course of a day's march.

Kynaston mounted, leaving his little squad to move slowly out along the rocky trail, rode quickly back to the tent where the two women sat. Here he swung out of saddle and, tossing his reins to the trumpeter, crept out cheerily enough:

"I say, Miss Upton, I hope I will find you and Mrs. Fane here when I return. It has just occurred to me that I ought to give you the warning that is contained in the note I received."

"It will not be safe for you to cross the line here inside of the next twenty-four hours. You know this road leads directly south and connects with the main road to Ojinaga, and there is fighting going on there. It will be extremely unwise for you to leave here, at least until I return. I shall be back by daylight, I think. I can't tell you any more just now. I know Mr. Upton would wish you to act on my advice."

"Certainly, Mr. Kynaston, we will take your advice and profit by your courtesy until our chauffeur comes back, or until you return. Good luck!"

And Miss Upton waved her white hand cheerily to the youngster as he took the slope at a gallop to join the little squad, which was already well on its way toward the rocky trail that led eastward to the mesa.

Mrs. Fane watched them till she saw the last man of the little squad guard pass over the ridge. Then she turned to Dorothy.

"He seems a nice man—a really nice young man," she commented, standing with her hands on her hips, looking down at the younger woman. "I am not at all sure that I have ever seen a better looking man in my life."

She eyed Dorothy speculatively. "And he'd make a mighty good match for a young girl like you," she concluded.

"You speak like Mother-in-law," laughed Dorothy. "Teach me the out of the book of your experience."

"My dear," laughed Mrs. Fane, "do you know that a widow of twenty-five is an old—"

"As she wants to be? Yes, just that, and not a day older."

"Do you want him, Dorothy? If you do I will keep my hands off; but I think if you do not that I shall take advantage of the open game laws of this state."

Fearing lest she should betray a touch of jealousy, Dorothy hastily turned the subject. "Oh, for once!" she yawned. "I'm going to lie down until the car is repaired. I wonder when we can expect that good-for-nothing chauffeur back with that gear?"

She passed into the tent, where she stood for a moment looking at the crumpled note that Kynaston had made during his month of occupancy to make himself comfortable. Dorothy gave the place a deft touch or two, which seemed to transform it; then, with a little sigh of utter content, she threw herself down upon the narrow canvas cot, pulled the mosquito bar over her head to keep away the ubiquitous New Mexican flies, which stick closer than a brother, and passed away into dreamland.

Drawing her pink veil about her face, Mrs. Fane settled herself at full length in the long canvas reclining chair which Kynaston had placed beneath a chinaberry tree near his tent. In a few minutes the little camp lay quiet under the stars.

Ordinarily, Kynaston would have welcomed a message that took him from his camp. Anything was a relief that broke the monotony of the long day when the only variation was the shifting of the long shadows from west to east.

Day after day he had sat by his post watching the little parties of rebel horse riding the line on the lookout for the Americans who should succeed in evading the law that prohibited gun running; for in those days almost any one would take a chance with a rifle worth its weight in coined silver and cartridges selling openly for fifteen cents apiece. And gun running was made easier by the reason of the fact that the smuggler must be caught red-handed in the act of carrying the arms across the very line itself; for any American citizen could legally own a thousand rifles within ten feet of the boundary.

"It's the same old tale, of course," reflected Kynaston as he trotted leisurely down the gentle slope that led to the Santa Mesa flats, from which the land sloped south to the Great Ranges, where the miners were praying for peace that should allow them to work undisturbed the great ore beds that held the wealth of the ages.

"Twenty miles, I suppose, and then a ride back—What is it, corporal?"

Corporal Welsh had come back from the "point" of three men that was riding in advance of the party to give timely warning of any rebels who might be on the road.

"It's firing, sir, I think, off to the southeast. Listen, sir."

It was firing beyond a doubt. The men sat with intent faces, listening to the sporadic spitter of the shots. The scratch of a match as a man lit a cigarette broke the silence.

Kynaston raised his right hand over his head, the hat clenched, and raised and lowered it quickly thrice. The little squad automatically formed in column of twos and broke into a steady trot, following closely on the heels of their officer as he pushed on up the valley which, they well knew, opened out beyond the trees.

Up, up, up they pushed till the live oaks gave place to pinyon pines, and the pines to bowlders. There, where the rocks ran out into scrub and the red earth showed like a blood-stain against the setting sun, they saw and heard again the cause of the firing.

Far away against the southern sky they saw the tall hats of the Villista scouts dotted among the grass stems and the shrubs of the mesquite. Occasional flashes of red fire from the summit of the hill showed where their line was formed.

Instinctively, Kynaston looked for the men at whom they were firing. To his left he saw a stirring among the bowlders; even as he watched he saw the defenders move out in an attempt to gain the American side of the line.

There were about twenty of them; they came down the hillside as a tree falls, intent only on gaining the sure refuge of the line of powder willows that marked the limit of Mexican territory. That the Villistas were after them could not be doubted, for the rush of unadvised horsemen swirled down the hill as chips suck into a whirlpool. The feeling Carranzistas seeing the intent in their enemies' gaze, and knowing right well what would happen should they come to hand grips with their pursuers, poured across the international line almost in front of Kynaston. The leader, a very much bedraggled captain of infantry, came forward somewhat breathlessly:

"Senior captain, I kiss your hands and feet!"

Kynaston had the grace to look at those selfsame hands and feet, and seeing that they were in condition to be embraced as was suggested, grinned behind his hand as he made answer:

"I am very glad to meet you. You are familiar, I presume, with the requirements of international law when an armed party crosses the line of a neutral state? Surrender must be made at once, and your party will be interned at some point to be designated later by the proper authorities."

"Of a certainty!" He reached back and, unholstering his silver-mounted machete, swung it forward gracefully. "Senior," he said, "behold my little sword!"

"Confound your little sword, sir. I don't see why the deuce you people can't have your fights so far within your own borders that we will not have to mount guard over you. Every blessed one of you, when he starts a fight, gets one foot on the American line and then thumps his nose at the other party. If you did it twenty miles south of the line you'd be caught. Gallop up those pack mules, corporal."

The three loose pack mules, which had been lagged down the hill by their owners' feet, too, should fall into the hands of the pursuing party, were grazing peacefully at the line, eagerly snatching such mesquite beans as they could reach.

Corporal Welsh rounded them up and was driving them well into American territory when a shout from the pursuing party made him turn. An officer clad in a French military cap, a Mexican blouse, very dirty white trousers, and straw slippers, rode forward, saluting Kynaston punctiliously.

"I have a honor to request, sir," he said courteously, "that in accordance with the terms of the treaty that has existed between our two countries the raiders who have just crossed into American territory be turned back to answer to Mexican law."

"They've got a job, sir," commented Corporal Welsh. "They ain't got no law except what they make whiles you wait."

"I am sorry, sir, but it is impossible—that is, unless they desire to be returned to Mexico."

Tooth Loose?

Watch out for Pyorrhea!

When you find a tooth that gives back and forth, even just a little, see your dentist at once.

He will find conditions which you might overlook. He will find a gum recession, even though slight, where the gums have pulled away from the teeth. And he will tell you that you have the dread disease pyorrhea.

From pyorrhea come by far the greater part of all tooth troubles. Unless treated and checked, it will result not only in the shrinking and malformation of your gums and of the bony structure into which your teeth are set, but in the loss of the teeth themselves.

A specific for pyorrhea has been discovered recently by dental science, and is now offered for daily treatment in Senreco Tooth Paste. Senreco combats the germ of the disease. Its regular use insures your teeth against the attack or further progress of pyorrhea.

But Senreco does more. It cleanses the teeth delightfully. It gives them a whiteness distinctive of Senreco alone. Its flavor is entirely pleasing, and it leaves in the mouth a wonderful sense of coolness and wholesomeness.

Start the Senreco treatment before pyorrhea grips you for good. Details in folder with every tube. A two-ounce tube for 25¢ sufficient for 6 weeks' daily treatment. SPOT COKE IS MEASURABLY HIGHER WITH MARKET LEANING TOWARD $2.50

Contract Furnace Waiting, Operators Deciding to Wait.

SUSPENSIONS HAVE RUN OUT

Remains Cause of Recent Slump; Foundry Coke Given Quiet Without Change in Price; Labor Troubles
May Boost Connellsville Coal.

Special to The Weekly Courier.
PITTSBURGH, April 26.—The chief point of interest in the general coke situation at present is the behavior of the market for furnace coke for spot shipment, as that appears to be the only thing that will give anything like an accurate index to conditions and prospects. When the recent slump occurred in the spot market the order of consumers uncovered for second half was chilled decidedly and these buyers are waiting for the coke market to get a reputation by establishing a fair level for spot coke before they are willing to contract at the price still entertained by operators, who to $3 for second half.

In the past week there has been action in the spot furnace market. A week ago it was quotable at a range of $2.25 to $2.50, as reported in The Courier. At the close of the week fairly good grades of coke for spot shipment could be had at $2.25 and no buyer would listen to talk of any higher price. This week the trend has been upward, and on the whole the market seems to be measurably higher than it was one week ago. On Monday there was some coke of iron grade available at $2.25, and coke of questionable grade sold down to $2.10, coke that would normally command a discount of about 15 cents from the regular market. Yesterday similar coke sold at $2.50 and some sellers were firmly holding out for $2.50 on standard grade. Today the market seems to be quotable strong at $2.50 to $2.55, with a leaning towards the higher figure.

As already indicated there is no interest in contract furnace coke. It is simply a waiting game. The operators have not weakened in their view regarding the recent slump in prompt coke as transient. It was caused, of course, by suspensions ordered as to shipments on contract. It is only as to why the suspensions were ordered that there is any question. In some quarters the chief cause is stated to be that some operators had been over-shipping their contracts. They found coke more plentiful and as the spot market had little absorbing power they shipped more coke against their contracts. In other quarters it is asserted that the shippers were not to blame, to any extent, but that the heavy arrivals of coke at furnaces, causing them to order suspensions, were due simply to the railroads clearing their tracks. Coke long on route was delivered together with coke that had gotten through in normal time, and thus the receipts at furnaces were temporarily increased, to a rate in excess of the daily requirements of the various furnaces involved. No further suspensions are expected, the last having been that of the large steel interest at Buffalo, and most of the old suspensions have run out.

There was a distinct labor shortage on Monday, to such an extent that some operators could not draw their coke, let alone charge the usual volume, but this shortage is attributed to the Easter holidays and while it will doubtless affect the week's production it will hardly be noticeable by the end of the week. The labor difficulty in the Pittsburgh district, all the miners of the Pittsburgh Coal Company and those of one or two independent companies being called out Monday, is expected to be adjusted by the end of the week, but if it is not the Connellsville region may experience some demand for coal.

The foundry coke market has grown quieter, as to both prompt and contract, but prices have not suffered. Spot foundry coke of standard grade is still bringing $3.75, while operators are holding to $3.50 for contract as minimum, some asking $3.75. The market as a whole is quotable as follows:

Spot furnace $2.25 to $2.50
Contract furnace $2.50 to $3.00
Spot foundry $3.75
Contract foundry $3.50 to $3.75

The local pig iron market has been quiet since the purchase a week ago of 60,000 tons of December by the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company. This purchase, together with the purchase a few days earlier of 15,000 tons of basic iron from a middleman by the Republic Iron & Steel Company, is held to have softened the situation.

COKE: TRADE SUMMARY.

The Connellsville coke trade is in a state of decline caused by a slump in merchant demand and an insufficient and inefficient labor supply. Both conditions are thought to be temporary. The operators find some consolation in the fact that while they have not been able to sell their coke, they are not producing it. Shipments held to 452,000 tons but production slumped to 440,000 tons indicating the absorption of 12,000 or 18,000 tons of merchant stock. This was sent out in the spot coke movement of last week which hammered prices down somewhat. These prices seem to be recovering slowly.

Labor conditions are serious, while the Easter holiday takes its toll in temporary operators fear the customary exodus of some of their miners who prefer outside work during the summer.

The merchant operators have 88 1/2% of their ovens in blast and the furnace interest has 90 1/2% under way. In the region as a whole 80.5% of the ovens are in operation. Last week they operated to 82 1/2% capacity.

Internationally, but on the other hand there is the continued light consumption of iron by the iron and steel foundries of the Pittsburgh district, which have had a strike of molasses on their hands since December 13, a strike which they have made no progress in settling in the past fortnight, but which on the contrary, the foundries are furthermore faced with the possibility of a strike of machinists. The market remains quotable as follows:

Remainder $21.00 to $21.50
Basic $18.00 to $18.50
Pig iron $18.00 to $18.50
Cast iron $18.00 to $18.50
Gray force $18.00 to $18.50

These prices are f. o. b. Valley furnaces, prices delivered Pittsburgh being higher by the 95-cent freight.

ENORMOUS STEEL EARNINGS IN LINE WITH CONDITIONS

A Progressive Increase Expected; Concession Will Drive Mills to Capacities Into Next Year.

Special to The Weekly Courier.
NEW YORK, April 26.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the steel and iron trade tomorrow as follows:

The $69,713,624 earnings reported by the Steel Corporation for the first quarter of the year should not be considered surprising as they are fully in line with known conditions as to the market and the rate of steel shipments. The progressive increase, which ought to continue for some time, suggests earnings of $75,000,000 or $80,000,000 for the current quarter.

Car buying seems to have stopped except for sporadic needs for small batches of cars, but the shops are filled to October. The ship-building industry has already bought far ahead. If there should be no further contracting for structural steel work, an unreasonable assumption, the shape will still be crowded with work for months. In tubular goods, sheets, tin plates and wire products there is no indication of high prices interfering with consumption. Demand may taper off slightly, but with the mills so congested as they are it is a fair inference that they will be called upon to operate at capacity late 1917 without any readjustments in prices.

The trend of steel prices has been upward this month to date, though by no means sharply as in February and March. Under date of last Friday new discounts listed were promulgated by the wrought iron and steel pipe mills, making an average advance of fully $5 a ton in black pipe and $7 in galvanized. Hoops are quotable $2 a ton higher and some mills formerly committed to 2.75 on plates are now asking higher prices.

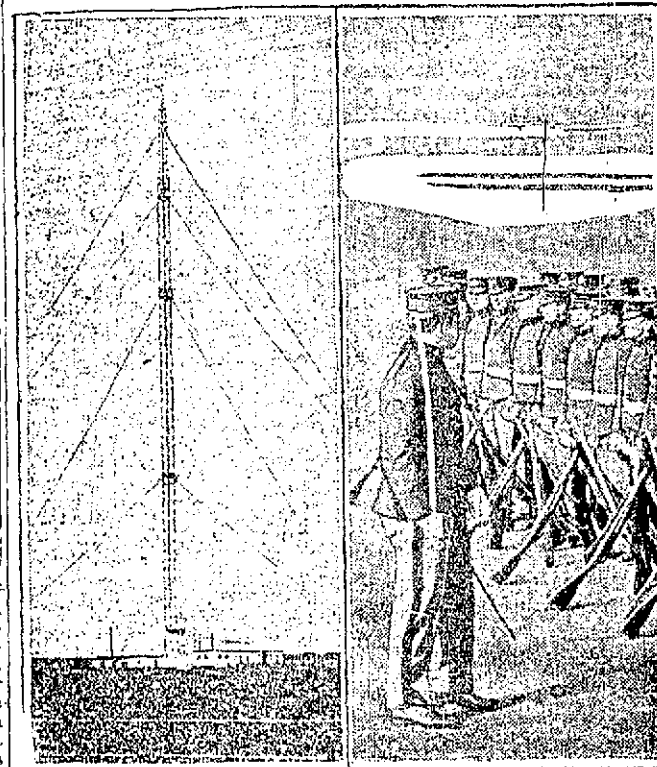

Steel buying is light, there being very little delivery material offered, while the deliveries available in large tonnages are quite uninteresting. The steel industry is not concerned with its markets, but whether there will be sufficient labor for itself and its customers, and whether that labor will work. Transportation is an item also, but the situation has been clearing up slightly. There is a noticeably freer movement from the Pittsburgh district to eastern points.

To Compel Use of Home Product.
Enactment of an Ohio law compelling state institutions to use Ohio-made coal and passage of another measure providing freight rates on coal advantageous to Ohio miners is urged by the Ohio Mine Workers Association.

Washington Sends Marines To Guard German Wireless

WIRELESS TOWER AT SAYVILLE—U.S. MARINES.

Federal, state and city authorities took precautions to guard points that might be attacked by German sympathizers in the event of an outbreak of hostilities between the two countries. Marines were sent from the Brooklyn navy yard and the League Island yard at Philadelphia to the wireless stations at Tuckerton, N. J., Sayville, N. Y., by which the Germans in the United States maintain communication with the mother country. Secretary Daniels said in Washington that the marines were sent to the wireless plants to re-inforce the small guards already there and insure adequate protection. The German situation, he said, was not alone responsible, as the decision had been made some time ago, and no change in the present policy of wireless operation was contemplated.

REORGANIZE UNITED COAL

A New Plan Being Submitted to Creditors for Approval.

A second attempt is being made to reorganize the United Coal Company along the lines pursued in adjusting the affairs of J. V. Thompson. About a year ago a plan was submitted which was objected to by a protective committee of the creditors.

The new plan provides that the unsecured creditors shall receive preferred and common stock in place of bonds which were proposed by the first plan. It is stated that sufficient money has been raised from the assets of the company to make the issuance of mortgage bonds necessary.

It is estimated that the reorganized company will begin business with $1,875,000 in cash and readily convertible assets, the sale of which can be completed and the new securities issued by July 1.

BY-PRODUCT AND GAS COKE

Are Stimulated at Lake Ports by the Anti-railroad Situation.

The uncertainty as to the settlement of the wage controversy in the anthracite region has stimulated the by-product coke trade for domestic uses at Toledo, Detroit and other lake cities.

The Semet-Solway Company is reported to be sold up for many weeks in advance at the Detroit plant, which since the sale of its plant at Dunbar, to the American Manganese Company, is the nearest source of supply for this territory. Gas house coke for domestic trade is in great demand and commanding prices ranging from $4.00 to $4.50 f. o. b. works for spot shipment.

OUTSIDE COKE MARKETS.

Chicago Consumers Taking All They Can Get; Buffalo Demands Fair.

The coke market at Chicago is about as previously described, says The Black Diamond. Metallurgical and other industries are taking about all the coke that can be produced and the owners are robbing that line of trade in order to keep alive their domestic business which, considering the weather and everything else, is fair. Connellsville coke demands $6.50 delivered.

At Buffalo prices are softer and 72-hour Connellsville foundry is now selling at $5.50 to $5.75. The demand is fair and deliveries are slow.

Exports of Explosives.

The exports of explosives for the 10 months of the European war from August 1, 1914, to March 1, 1916, have amounted to $279,006,235 in value, consisting of the following items: Cartridges, $36,133,790; gun powder, $88,655,002; other explosives, $135,245,317; fuses, $18,011,532.

mend this very choice assortment at $25.00.

You'll Like the Materials, the Colors and Styles

—Women are attracted by some models with jacks which flare becomingly at the hips. Other styles show a decided tendency toward the plain tailored suits. Some are trimmed with buttons; some with braid. Fancy collars are shown on many.

—Quite a variety of materials including serge, poplin, gabardine, black-and-white checks and silk.

—Practically all of the season's most wanted colors, such as navy, rookie brown, grey, green, rose and black.

—ALL SIZES 13 TO 45.

Many Other Styles $15 to $45

Ladies' Dresses

$6.50

—A limited number of Spring models in Faille Silk. Shown in such good shades as blue, purple and green. Sizes 16 to 38.

—It seems remarkable that such quality and style can be combined for such a little price.
